Elizabeth Chenevert

1. Brief family information

My husband, Don, and I married in 1991. We have four children: James (24), Sarah (22), Olivia (17) and William (15). James is a mechanical engineer. He graduated from Iowa State University in 2018. He is working and living in Lexington, Kentucky. He is also attending graduate school at the University of Kentucky. Sarah is a senior at our alma mater, Mississippi College. She is earning two degrees - a BS in biology and a BA in French. She is looking forward to teaching at an international school overseas to spread the Gospel. Olivia is a junior at Glendale High School. She enjoys painting, sculpting and theatre. She is active in Venturer Scouts and several other activities at school. William is a sophomore at Greenwood Lab School at Missouri State University. He is on the soccer team and sings in the school choir. He recently earned his Eagle rank in Scouts.

2. How long have you been attending All Saints?

Since January 2020. Don and I co-teach the middle school Sunday School class with Bruce and Shellie Foltz.

3. Why is All Saints important to you?

The parishioners at All Saints were so welcoming and friendly. We immediately felt at home and found ways to plug into the life of the church. You made it easy for us to participate and serve.

4. What unique qualities would you bring to the All Saints Vestry?

I am compassionate and approach tasks with a "can do" attitude. I enjoy being part of a team that works together to get things done. I have a bit of experience managing businesses and building and renovation projects. I want to help build community within the church as we help build God's kingdom.

Chris Wilbers

1. Brief family information

Blessed to be the husband of Colette, and father of Helen (married, editor of the Fulton Sun newspaper), Henry (studying wildlife biology at MSU), and Hannah (a senior in high school).

2. How long have you been attending All Saints?

We started attending All Saints in 2014. After a couple of visits while in Galloway House, our first “official” Sunday after we decided to join was the first Sunday service in the new building. (A complete surprise to us!)

3. Why is All Saints important to you?

After being raised Catholic, and after long sojourns in charismatic and evangelical Christian churches, coming to All Saints Anglican felt like coming home to family. We love participating in the traditional liturgical worship structure, and receiving the Biblical teaching, and the Sacraments. Pre-coronavirus, the food, fellowship, and conversations, in McGlynn Hall and the classrooms have been great sources of mutual encouragement and support.

4. What unique qualities would you bring to the All Saints Vestry?

As a physician, I hope that my medical knowledge can help serve Fr. Eric and the vestry in making decisions at this moment when we are all being impacted by the coronavirus pandemic. I am a good listener, and appreciate the wisdom that can come from honest discussions with people on various sides of an issue. I can both analyze details and synthesize information to see larger patterns. While I have no formal Biblical or theological training, I have participated in and led Bible studies for many years and relish how the Bible reveals the person and work of the Father, the Lord Jesus, and the Holy Spirit. I would pray to be led by the Scriptures and the Spirit in all our decisions as a Vestry, so that our life together as a church family would demonstrate the love that Jesus said would characterize His people.
